Winter 1975/6

What the Papers say . . .

The Financial Times 19 May 1973

"Supertravel, a company which has carved itself a large and dedicated slice of the very top end of the market."

Country Life November 1973

"Referring to the Supertravel chalet holiday on which the writer went. The value of the chalet holiday offered in Courchevel by at least one British tour operator was outstanding. As a newcomer to package tours, I was an enthusiastic convert."

Daily Mail 29 December 1973

"If you prefer to stay in chalets, Supertravel have mostly Cordon-bleu trained girls to look after you—and the wine is free."

Sunday Times 6 October 1974

"Some tour operators specialise in Chalet Holidays. They may sound expensive but an all inclusive chalet party ski holiday is an excellent way of making your money go further in the Alps. Supertravel, still the pacesetter in Staffed Chalet Holidays, include: air travel, four meals a day (breakfast, packed lunch, tea, dinner—with free wine and coffee), and trained Chalet Girls to cook, clean and look after you."

The Times 12 October 1974

"I found this year in Wengen (and Mürren too) some of the most satisfying skiing I've encountered. With today's costs I cannot emphasise enough the tremendous value of the chalet system. For example, look at some of the things that Supertravel include free, not only in their Chalet Schweizerheim in Wengen, but in all their chalets in the Alps: a boiled egg, porridge or cereal with breakfast (all extra in an hotel); tea, always with bread and jam and often with home made cakes, when you come in after skiing (several francs a time in a tea-room); a bath every day (five francs a time in an hotel); wine with dinner (£2 a bottle if you're lucky); and coffee after dinner (two to three francs). Talking about dinner, the evening meals I had in the Schweizerheim proved that the rigorous standards Supertravel applies when selecting its Cordon-bleu-trained girls pay off in no uncertain way. I also believe you stand the chance of having more fun in the atmosphere of a chalet."

The Guardian October 1974

"The one form of holiday to have suffered least from inflation is the Staffed Chalet. The comfort provided would cost you £50 more in an hotel. Supertravel offer 28 centres with France and Switzerland predominating. For a party of friends, this is quite the best buy on the market. Cheapest of ski holidays are self catering flats and Supertravel offer a selection."

Sunday Telegraph December 1974

"Supertravel, the doyen of ski villa companies, offers such bonuses as porridge and eggs for breakfast and the best skiing resorts in the Alps."

Verbier

Switzerland 4,920—9,920 ft

A very pleasant high sunny resort, offering extensive skiing with plenty of variety for every standard. Supertravel Rep. S.C.G.B. Rep. 36 lifts in all.

Verbier is, in our view, an exceptionally pleasant resort with a great many advantages. The easy drive from Geneva Airport takes only about three hours. The village is high and, being situated in an open bowl, enjoys long hours of sunshine. The views, particularly towards the Mont Blanc range, are magnificent. The atmosphere is relaxed and informal, with traditional style chalets still predominating over hotels and newer apartment houses. There are excellent open sunny nursery slopes, one of which is entirely devoted to classes for young children, and a good value family abonnement is available. The extent and variety of the skiing is remarkable, offering a wide choice to almost every grade of skier. The most popular area includes the snow fields around Les Ruinettes, Atelles and Lac des Vaux and some testing runs down to Tortin and off the top of Mont-Gelé. The other main area centres around Savoleyres and offers open south facing slopes back to Verbier and north facing wooded runs down to La Tzoumaz—a favourite rendez-vous at lunch time. A minibus service, included in the ski pass, connects the departure stations for these two main areas and the runs interlink so you can also circulate from one to the other on skis. All in all a great variety, almost guaranteed to give you a great holiday. Add to that lunch in the sun at Le Carrefour restaurant, inter-chalet parties at tea time and in the evenings, plenty of fellow English guests, a lively bar at the Hotel Eden, a good discotheque at the Farm Club and dancing to groups at Tara's and Marshall's night clubs—and surely you can't fail to enjoy Verbier!

Chalet Elizabeth, Verbier

Chalet Figaro 7 persons

Chalet Figaro is an attractive wooden chalet with red shutters, conveniently situated just off the central square about six minutes' walk from the lift station for Ruinettes. The comfortable living/dining room has great atmosphere, with knotted pine walls and a beamed ceiling, and opens onto a long balcony. First floor: Living/dining room, two twins, bathroom (with wc). Second floor: One single, one twin, separate wc. Hot water off the central heating. Telephone. Chalet Girl lives in.

Hotel Eden 60 beds

The Eden is a good, reasonably priced, hotel very conveniently located right on the central square. The proprietor, Mr. Tuor, has been welcoming British guests for many years and his bar has become a great meeting place for the English staying in the resort. The food is good in the dining room and guests can enjoy a Fondue Bourguignonne in the rustic decorated Carnotzet once a week without extra charge. The bedrooms are on the small side but most have fitted carpeting, shower, wc and balcony. In the annex, just across the road, there are two four bedded apartments which are good value.

Other Recommended Hotel

The De la Poste, a good hotel situated on the main street between the central square and the Ruinettes lift station, has the advantage of an indoor pool.

Chalet Carrasco, Verbier

Chalet Carrasco 8 persons

Chalet Carrasco is a nice looking chalet located in a sunny position just below the Catholic Church, about three minutes' walk up from the central square. It has a pleasantly large living room, basins in two of the bedrooms and good balconies for sunbathing. We have been using this chalet, owned by a Belgian baroness, for many years with great success. Ground floor: Living/dining room, one twin, separate wc. First floor: One single, one twin, one three, bathroom (with wc). Hot water off the central heating. Telephone. Chalet Girl lives in.

Chalet Elizabeth 7 persons

Chalet Elizabeth is a most attractive little chalet, exceptionally well situated just back from the main street almost equidistant between the central square and the Ruinettes lift, either of which can be reached in a couple of minutes. The interior is fairly compact but there's a basin in the three bedded room, a nice balcony and the advantage of a small separate living room. Ground floor: Living room, dining area, two twins, bathroom (with wc). First floor: One three, Hot water off the central heating. No telephone. Chalet Girl lives in.

Chalet Fendant 8 persons

Chalet Fendant stands just below the rue de Ransou, is our most spacious chalet in this resort and has a very pleasant living room with comfortable sofas and armchairs, an open cheminée fireplace and a south facing balcony. There are basins in two of the bedrooms and the advantage of two bathrooms. First floor: Living/dining room, two twins, bathroom (with wc), separate wc. Second floor: Two twins, bathroom (with wc).
